READING RAILROAD.

It Is Now in the Hands of a Receiver.

A PANIC IN WALL STREET.

One of the Most Extensive and Ambitious Railroad and Coal Combinations Ever Formed Forced to the Wall — Wall Street Has Rarely Witnessed a Wilder Day.

NEW YORK, Feb. 21.—The Philadelphia and Reading railroad is in the hands of receivers. Its credit and power in the financial world are gone, and the ownership of its panic-blown, widely-scattered stock is unknown.

The rise and fall of one of the most extensive and ambitious railroad combinations ever attempted are embraced in the comparatively brief period of one year and a fortnight. It was just a year ago this month that the formation of the great Reading-Jersey, Central-Lehigh Valley alliance was publicly announced. Railroad men and Wall street financiers were impressed by the magnitude of the combination. In mileage it was the largest railroad system in the east and its ownership of coal mines made it apparently the arbitrator of the coal markets of the country. The hand of J. Pierpont Morgan was frankly disclosed in the new combination, and the prestige of his name added much to the public confidence in the stability of the statement.

ARCHIBALD A. MCLEOD.

Never did so great an enterprise start out under more favorable condition. Conservative men in Wall street were inclined to believe that the unfortunate and much-buffed Reading road was at last to be guided into the haven of solvency. Archibald McLeod was hailed as the savior of Reading and praised as the coming railroad magnate of the world. His simple declaration of what he intended to do was popularly accepted as the statement of a thing accomplished.

Mr. McLeod has not been indolent in his high estate. His brief career as president of the Reading has been marked by an uncommon exhibition of activity, energy and personal self-reliance. His administration forms a unique and theatrical chapter in the history of American railroads.

The dissolution of the Reading combination, which culminated yesterday, was begun by the opposition of the New Jersey authorities and the courts in the formation of a coal trust. Although Mr. McLeod and his associates pooh-poohed that opposition for a while, they finally had to give way to it, and a complete severance of the relations between the Reading and the Jersey Central was announced.

The facts relating to the Reading's incursion into New England, the series of brilliant movements which apparently placed the new Poughkeepsie bridge, the Boston and Maine railroad, the New York and New England railroad and the Connecticut River railroad in the control of the great combination are still familiar events in the public mind. It was the New England extension, which practically was a declaration of war against the powerful New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad corporation, that caused the successive uprising of obstacles over which Mr. McLeod has been stumbling for the past few months. By invading the territory of the consolidated system he antagonized strong financial interests represented by Drexel, Morgan & Company, which at the outset has been a most powerful backer. The relations between Mr. Pierpont Morgan and the Reading management at once became strained and it was not long before Mr. McLeod found his feet slipping off his financial basis.

The Philadelphia syndicate who were carrying the stock of the Reading company, found themselves overburdened with the rapidly acquired subsidiary properties in New England and elsewhere, and the need of more money was felt. Heavy obligations approached maturity and some quick turns had to be made to escape direct default. The sagacious and resourceful Morgan was no longer interested in protecting Reading's credit if the earnings failed to come up to his expectations, and the prestige of the Reading combination began to fade.

Next came loudly whispered doubts about McLeod's being able to get control of the New York and New England road, and following close upon these whisperings came the rumors from Boston that General Lawrence and his associates were preparing to reclaim the Boston and Main from the Reading control. The latest feature of Mr. McLeod's management to excite criticism in financial circles was his position to use borrowed money to pay the interest on Reading income bonds. Within a few days too there have been rumors of an impending default in rental obligation due the Lehigh Valley road.

Quite naturally the heavy selling of Reading shares in the stock exchanges here and Philadelphia last Friday and Saturday and the rapid decline in price suggested financial weakness on the part of the management of the property. All doubts on that point were removed yesterday when it was learned that an application had been made to a Pennsylvania court for the appointment of a receiver.

The excitement on the New York Exchange over the Reading's stock yesterday surpassed all previous movements in that stock. The dealings in Reading shares were conducted on a scale and with a hurricane rapidity. More shares than are represented in the Reading's entire capital stock changed hands. The total number of shares of all kinds of stock sold aggregated 1,453,000. Of these 957,955 were Reading shares.

The moment the exchange was opened for business huge blocks of Reading were thrown on the market and inside of 12 minutes the price was hammered down 6 1/2 points, making a total decline since the downward movement began of 16 1/2 points. Then the usual slight reaction set in, and the velocity of the descent was momentarily checked.

The scenes at the exchange throughout the morning were exciting; the galleries were packed to suffocation by an immense crowd, which was interested and amazed at what it saw. On the floor pandemonium reigned. Around the Reading post there was a wild, struggling mass of panic-stricken humanity. Brokers jumped, roared, yelled, gesticulated; the roar arising from the babel of thousands of voices extended beyond the walls of the building and caused passersby to stop in amazement.

It was a panic. Brokers tumbled over each other in their wild eagerness to unload. Reading was thrown upon the market in big blocks of from 1,000 to 11,000 shares at a time and snatched up by the bears at ruling prices. Reading's first, second and third income bonds dropped a point a minute. Northern Pacific, too, was affected and owing to the charges made by the investigating committee against Henry Villard and the present management, dropped several points.

At 1 o'clock the excitement had quieted down and general feeling prevailed. Reading, which had fallen to 28 when the announcement of the appointment of receivers was received, advanced to 29 3/4 and every one agreed that the worst was over.

This tremendous day's business breaks the Stock Exchange records. The largest day's business on record previously was on Feb. 11 of last year, when the announcement of the great Reading deal was made. On that date 1,445,000 shares of stock were dealt in, the largest proportion, of course, being Reading.

The price of stock dropped from 36 5/8 to 28 yesterday, but subsequently recovered to 30. Almost all of the large brokerage houses dealt in the stock, but it was impossible to ascertain for whom the stock was purchased.

Mr. J. Pierpont Morgan said positively that he had neither bought nor sold a single share of stock. He declared that he knew absolutely nothing about the Reading collapse. It was a surprise to him, he remarked.

The opinion as to the effect upon coal prices seems to be divided. President Sloan, of the Delaware and Lackawanna, said that the appointment of receivers would not have the slightest effect upon coal, but Mr. Henry Clews says it will reduce the price materially.

The Receivers.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 21.—The application for a receivership for the Reading company was granted by Judge Dalla late yesterday afternoon. The application was made by ex-Senator Thomas G. Platt of New York as a holder of the company's third preference bonds. The receivers appointed are: A. A. McLeod, president of the company; Elisha P. Wilber, of the Lehigh Valley division of the Reading, and Edward H. Paxson, chief justice of the supreme court of Pennsylvania. Justice Paxson has forwarded his resignation as justice of the supreme court to Governor Pattison. The receivers' bond is $500,000. A similar bill has been, or will be, filed in Jersey City.

Barge Sink and Crew Drowned.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 21.—The steam barge Reliance, which sank yesterday off Block Island during the gale, was owned by the Philadelphia and Reading Coal company and was bound from this port for Boston with a cargo of 1,500 tons of coal. The barge was commanded by Joseph B. Remington and had an engineer and deckhand aboard besides the captain. The three men were drowned. The barge was almost new and was valued at about $50,000. There is no insurance.

One Way to Get Gold.

PHOENIX, A. T., Feb. 21.—Word has just been received of the systematic theft of valuable ore from the famous Bonanza mine in Harquahala mountains, the richest gold mine in the world. Mexican workmen carried out nightly in dinner pails five to eight pounds of ore worth $6 a pound. The discovery was made by a Mexican leaving the mine over night. It is thought several thousands dollars have been carried out.

Railroad Men Strike.

GALESBURG, Ills., Feb. 21.—One hundred boilerers and wipers of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad struck yesterday for an increase of wages from $1.40 to $1.80 per day. The company offered them $1.50 per day

REPLY TO KAIULANI.

Hawaiian Commissioner Thurston Interviewed

ON THE PRINCESS' APPEAL

A General Denial of Almost Every Part of Her "Letter to the American People"—The Queen's Envoy at the Capitol—Other Hawaiian Information.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—The following is the substance of a statement made last night by Mr. Thurston, of the Hawaiian commission: "Miss Cleghorn, heretofore known as Princess Kaiulani, purports to have addressed a note to the American people, which has been published in the papers. The note in question sets forth that 'at the request of Mr. Thurston, then Hawaiian minister, I was sent away to England to be educated privately and fitted for the position which, by the constitution of Hawaii, I was to inherit.'

"The only criticism that I desire to make upon this statement is that:

"First—I did not at any time, either directly or indirectly, request that the lady in question be sent to England or anywhere to be educated, or for any other purpose.

"Second—Neither as cabinet minister nor in any other official capacity, nor individually, have I ever had anything to do with the young lady's education or movements.

"Third—The lady went to England about 1889. At that time she was not heir to the throne and had no standing under the constitution of Hawaii.

"Kalakaua was then king, and the ex-Queen Liliuokalani, his sister, was by law the heir. By Kalakaua's death she came to the throne in February, 1891. She then had the power to nominate her successor, subject to the ratification of the house of nobles, which was done about March 1, 1891. This was the earliest date at which Kaiulani had any standing under the constitution as heir to the throne.

"As a matter of fact, the young lady's father is a British subject; her guardian, L. R. Walker, is the British consul at Honolulu, and his business partner, Mr. T. H. Davies, is her business agent, and has control of her in England.

"The young lady was sent to England by her father against a strong feeling in Honolulu that it would be best that she be educated in the United States.

"As to the intimation that Mr. Thurston is now in Washington trying to take away my flag and throne regardless of the fact that the only way in which she can come to the throne is by usurping the position and dispossessing her aunt, I would say that 'Mr. Thurston' and his fellow commissioners are acting only as the mouthpieces of thousands of their fellow citizens, who have been reluctantly forced to their present action in self-protection. Until very recently there have been no more radical opponents of annexation in the islands than the Hawaiian born children of the American residents there. They took an interest and pride in the country beyond that of the natives themselves, and it is only the inexorable logic of events which has forced them to the action now taken."

THE QUEEN'S ENVOY.

No Conference Yet Held With Secretary of State Foster.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—Mr. L. A. Thurston and his associates, the special annexation commissioners from Hawaii, and Mr. Paul Neuman, the envoy of Queen Liliuokalani, spent a part of yesterday at the Capitol. Mr. Neuman was in conference with the several senators, to whom he bears letters of introduction from business men on the islands and others whom he knew personally before leaving the United States, several years ago.

Mr. Marsen, one of the annexation commissioners, left for New York city last night on his way to San Francisco, whence he will sail for Honolulu on March 8.

It has been learned that when Mr. Neuman called at the state department Friday he was informed that Secretary Foster would see him immediately upon his return from Watertown yesterday. Mr. Foster expected to reach the city in the near future. Careful estimates of the cost and complete plans of the proposed improvement have already been made. The plans provide for the elevation of 27 miles of main track and 143 miles of sidewalk. The total cost to the company will be about $24,000,000.

It is intended to raise the money necessary for this improvement by floating 5-percent bonds. The officials figure that the interest on such would just about equal what the company now pays for injuries inflicted at grade crossings. It is estimated that when the work is completed the company will have surplus real estate to rent or sell to the amount of $3,000,000.

Will Not Go to Canada.

BOSTON, Feb. 21.—Mr. David Blanchard of this city who was selected as stakeholder in the Corbett-Mitchell fight will not accept the position if he has to go to Canada to receive the stakes. He has telephoned both fighters that it would not be convenient for him to go to Canada. If it can be arranged so that he will not have to go far from Boston to get the money, he will accept.

INDIANA LEGISLATURE.

Several Important Measures Acted on by the Senate.

INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 21.—The senate met at 11 o'clock yesterday and began the consideration of bills on third reading. Senator Wray's bill, extending the provisions of the Barrett improvement law to sewers and drains, and dividing the cost of such improvements into 20 annual payments, was passed. The bill to require county superintendents to hold a three years' license and to have taught in the common schools at least five years was defeated. A bill authorizing the governor to expend $50,000 per year in the prevention of the induction and spread of cholera in the state was passed; also requiring county clerks to keep a registry of fees.

The house also convened at 11 o'clock and devoted the hours to committee reports, passing the bill permitting boards of town trustees to put in electric light plants and issue bonds for the same upon petition of a majority of the voters. The remainder of the day was spent in committee reports and in considering the general appropriation bill. The item increasing the salary of the governor's private secretary from $1,500 to $1,800 was amended so as to leave the salary at the former figure.

At noon a joint convention of the senate and house convened in the hall of the latter, and formally elected Miss Nellie Ahern state librarian for the two years beginning March 10. Miss Ahern received 88 votes to 44 for Miss Matilda Denis, the Republican nominee.

Senate and House.

Appropriation Measures Occupy the Time of Both Branches.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—Senator Gorham (Dem., Md.) in some remarks which he made in the senate yesterday, in opposition to appropriations for public buildings, spoke of the serious and alarming condition which confronted the country; expressed the belief that only the borders of the trouble had been touched; and said that extraordinary action would have to be taken by the treasury department or else congress would have to reassemble before next July to meet the condition.

His warning did not prevent the senate from agreeing to all the amendments that were offered, making appropriations for or increasing the limit of cost of public buildings. The only year and a half vote that was taken upon them showed all the Republican senators except Mr. Sherman (Rep., O.); voting in the affirmative, and all the Democratic senators except Mr. Vest (Mo.) in the negative. The sundry civil appropriation bill occupied the attention of the senate throughout the day.

Filibustering against the New York and New Jersey bridge bill proved ineffectual yesterday. It was led by Messrs. W. A. Stone and Dalzell, both of New York, but they were never able to muster more than seven men to their support, and the bill was passed practically without opposition.

After the disposition of two private bills the naval and agricultural appropriation bills were called up under suspension of the rules and passed.

OHIO LEGISLATURE.

The Introduction of Bills Occupied All the Time.

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 21.—The introduction of a few bills was the only feature of the short session of the general assembly.

Representative Price introduced a bill looking to taxation of telegraph and express companies. It amends and supplements Sections 2377, 2778, 2779 and 2780, constituting the governor, auditor and secretary of state a board of appraisers and assessors to appraise and assess the value of telegraph lines and property of express companies of the state for purposes of taxation, and applies in the main the principles of the Nichols bill to companies.

Dr. Sterrett introduced a bill that provides that no life company shall, through agent or otherwise, solicit new business or deliver any policy or increase any existing insurance otherwise than by dividend additions when the total amount insured upon lives by its policies in force shall exceed $100,000.

Senator Phillips introduced a bill making important changes in the law governing the inspection and storage of tobacco and warehouses. It proposes a radical reduction in inspectors' fees, and throws such protection around the tobacco growers of southeastern Ohio as will render their business more profitable.

WILL COST MILLIONS.

Tracks of the Chicago and Northwestern in Chicago to Be Elevated.

CHICAGO, Feb. 21.—An official of the Chicago and Northwestern railway has made the statement to Mayor Washburn that the company intended to elevate all its tracks within the city limits in the near future. Careful estimates of the cost and complete plans of the proposed improvement have already been made. The plans provide for the elevation of 27 miles of main track and 143 miles of sidewalk. The total cost to the company will be about $24,000,000.

It is intended to raise the money necessary for this improvement by floating 5-percent bonds. The officials figure that the interest on such would just about equal what the company now pays for injuries inflicted at grade crossings. It is estimated that when the work is completed the company will have surplus real estate to rent or sell to the amount of $3,000,000.

Effects of the Storm.

NEW YORK, Feb. 21.—Reports from cities and towns throughout New York state are to the effect that the storm of Sunday night and yesterday was the severest since the blizzard of 1888. Considerable property has been destroyed, railroad trains are several hours late and telegraphic communication is crippled.

New Trial Refused.

PITTSBURG, Feb. 21.—In the criminal court yesterday before Judge Stowe and Slagle, the cases of William Bennett et al., charged with unlawful assembly, was argued for a rehearing or new trial. These defendants were Duquesne rioters in connection with the Homestead troubles.

NEW SILVER BILL.

One Has Been Agreed Upon by the Democrats.

CARLISLEITES IN CONFERENCE.

The Full Text of the Silver Bill Agreed Upon at the Carlisle Conference—Provisions of the Measure That Is Intended For a Substitute For the Andrew-Cate Bill.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—The following is the full text of the silver bill agreed upon at the Carlisle conference Sunday. It is proposed as a substitute for the Andrew-Cate bill.

First—That the secretary of the treasury shall set apart so much of the silver bullion, at the coinage value thereof, purchased under the act entitled "An act directing the purchase of silver bullion and the issue of treasury notes thereon" and for only purposes, approved July 14, 1890, as may be necessary, including the silver dollars heretofore coined under said act, to redeem all outstanding treasury notes issued in payment of silver bullion and the issue of treasury notes thereon at the rate of $3,000,000 per month into silver dollars of the weight of 412 1/2 grains troy of standard silver, as provided in the act Jan. 18, 1893, on which shall be the devices and superscriptions provided by said act, which coins, together with all silver dollars hereafter coined under the provisions of said act of July 14, 1890, shall be a legal tender, at their nominal value, for all debts and dues, public and private, except when otherwise expressly stipulated in the contract. The standard silver dollar coined under this section shall be covered into the treasury as a miscellaneous receipt.

Second—Any holder of the coin authorized by this act may deposit the same

WEATHER INDICATIONS.

For Kentucky, fair, except in western portions; local rains; warmer, westerly and southerly winds.

THE members of the Kentucky Legislature are doing more to defeat the Democratic party in the State than Bob Ingersoll has ever done to kill Christianity.

THE city has expended over $17,000 in less than twenty years building bridges over Limestone Creek. $25,000 will construct a viaduct and raise the houses on a level along the line. Gentleman of the City Council, why not get a move on yourselves and do it at once?

PORK PACKING.

What the Price Current Says in Its Weekly Report—A Scarcity of Cattle Threatened.

There is a continued small supply of hogs for Western packers, the total number handled for the week being 180,000, compared with 190,000 the preceding week and 240,000 for the corresponding time last year, making a total of 4,320,000 since November 1, against 7,275,000 a year ago. The decrease shown for the week is 110,000, and for the season 2,905,000 compared with last year.

Prices of hogs have been well maintained most of the week, but close with a moderate reduction in some markets, the general average showing but little change compared with a week ago. The current distribution of product is particularly light for the time of the year, both for domestic and foreign account. Against this is the fact that current manufacture affords only an exceptionally small quantity of product. Trading operations are restricted under the peculiar situation, and values continue quite changeable, the week closing with an advance of 10 cents per barrel on pork, 85 cents per 100 pounds on lard and 27½ cents on short rib sides at Chicago, for May delivery, compared with a week ago.

A feature of the general outlook is the strengthening position of the cattle market. The indications point to the fact that the demand is overtaking the supply, and will get beyond it in the near future. Conditions in recent years have operated to discourage cattle-growers, as well as hog-growers. There have been changes going on, including the marketing of animals at an average age, younger than heretofore. By this process the offerings have been out of proportion to the actual basis of supply. The surplus has been disposed of, and ere long the cattle-grower will be experiencing the same regret that the hog raiser now does that he went out of business when he should have done otherwise. The hog supply will be restored before a plentifulness of cattle can be made available.—Cincinnati Price Current, February 16th.

After Absentees.

In the Legislature yesterday Mr. Botts of Shelby, offered the following resolution:

"WHEREAS, As it is necessary for the early completion of our work that we have a full attendance, be it resolved that no member be permitted to absent himself during the session hours without leave, and any member absenting himself shall be fined $5."

The resolution was laid on the table by a vote of 28 to 22.

St. Patrick's, Attention.

All members of St. Patrick's Benevolent Society are urgently requested to assemble at their hall on Limestone street, this evening at 7 o'clock to perfect arrangements to attend the funeral of brother William Driscoll.

There will be a called meeting of the Ancient Order of Hibernians this evening at 7:30 o'clock, to make arrangements for attending the funeral of brother William Driscoll. FRANK P. O'DONNELL, President.

THE LEGISLATURE.

What a Mason County Man Thinks of That Body—The Correspondents, Absenteeism, &c.

Editor Bulletin: Faithful as you are in your editorial functions it seems to me that you are wanting in one particular. You don't review and score the delinquent, incompetent, dodging, absenting Kentucky Legislature as you should. There are too many "instructed" correspondents at Frankfort. A correspondent of vim and vigor, pluck and courage, without fear or favor, ought to be sent up to the old capital—the Legislative paving ground—as a loose horse, with his bridle off, with full liberty to kick and bite, to squeal and snort, and paw and paw, to nipp and tuck, snort and snort, and give a patient, long-suffering, but outraged constituency "the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth, so help him, Holy Moses." To get anything out of the present Legislature is like getting the real virtue out of any compound of medicine—it must be well stirred and well shaken up, handled without gloves and spanked without mercy. Don't you say so?

Just read "The Capital," the daily "official paper of Kentucky," and see how the wheels of legislation are blocked and retarded by the curse of absenteeism: Roll call—Present, 62; absent, 37. Present, 69; absent, 30. Roll call—Present, 55; absent, 44. This a sample of "House." No working quorum—not enough present to transact business—the animus of the entirely wanting. Senate is worse, I reckon. The bungling Constitution builders made a mistake in not limiting the first session to "sixty days." But "the cat in the meal tub" is in the inefficiency of the reportorial gang. They don't care how long the thing lasts, neither do the clerks. Keller don't touch on duration of session. They sit and scribble on the floor of the "House," in the presence of the membership, and are absolutely afraid to say their souls are their own. The reporter ought to be impersonal—an incog—a looker-on from the gallery, so he could whip the balky horses and make them tighten their traces and pull up to their best. The members are flattered too much. George Darsie and Harry Henderson, two Frankfort ministers, two splendid fellows, but liable to blunder, helped to spoil them by noticing them at "prayer meeting," at the opening of the session (never went back after the newspaper solace).

The absentees are "at home," some getting ready to burn tobacco beds, others to start the plow, and others fixing up their fences, but all drawing their per diems and resting in the wilful neglect of duty.

These hurried reflections are thrown out, (I know how busy you are), that you may embody some of the "pointers" in an occasional editorial paragraph. I would throw a fire-cracker among the incompetent myself, but a local reporter has no influence when shooting at game that roosts so high. Let the editorial gun be loaded and fired, taking good aim, so that the feathers will not only "fly," but some of the ducks will be lame and caught napping. Let The BULLETIN be in the front in this expose, as it is in all good words and works. Your faithful SCRIBE.

THE MARKETS.

LOUISVILLE TOBACCO MARKET.
Furnished by Glover & Durrett, Louisville Tobacco Warehouse, on our market for the week just closed amount to 1,280 hds, with receipts for the same period of 2,902 hds. Sales on our market since January 1st, amount to 25,249 hds. Sales of the crop of 1892 on our market to this date amount to 33,351 hds.

The sales of the week have been characterized by very heavy offerings of new burley tobacco, and there is no material change in the range of values as compared with a week ago. The tendency is toward slightly easier prices. The tone of the market for old burley has been somewhat better during this week.

LADIES, DON'T FAIL TO SEE BARKLEY'S REDUCED-PRICE FINE FOOTWEAR.

A FEMALE BABY

Found Wrapped in a Striped Shawl in a Wooden Box, Floating in the Back Water.

Last Sunday people noticed a small-sized wooden box floating in the back water on Limestone Creek, but it attracted no special attention. On yesterday, about noon, Lemuel Yazell and George Bromley were out on the water in a skiff and were rowing in the back water east of Limestone bridge, and between the railroad fill and Second street, when their attention was attracted to a wooden box floating near them. One of the boys hatched on to the box, which felt a little heavy, and to satisfy their curiosity they concluded to haul the box ashore and see if they might not possibly find something of value. They had some little difficulty in forcing the box open, and when the top was removed they were horrified at the sight. Within the box lay the dead body of a newly born infant, wrapped in an old checked shawl, and in a partly decomposed state.

Coroner James C. Owens was immediately sent for, but on inquiry it was learned that he was out of town, and Squire John L. Grant was called on to officiate. Squire Grant immediately proceeded to hold an inquest and summoned a jury to meet at the home of Mrs. McLaughlin, on Third street, Fifth ward. The news of the find spread rapidly over the city and a great crowd of morbid curiosity seekers viewed the box and contents during the afternoon. The Coroner's jury heard the evidence of Lemuel Yazell and George Bromley and examined the box, which resembled an old patent shoe blacking box, with a slip lid. The verdict was as follows:

We, the jury, find that the dead body now before us is that of a female white child. It has the appearance of about five months old, (at birth), who came to its death unknown to us. Said child was found in a wooden box wrapped up with a striped shawl, in the backwaters on the 20th day of February, 1893.

Senator Lindsay.

A group of Southern gentlemen were discussing the newly elected Senator from Kentucky—Judge William Lindsay—at the Metropolitan, says the Washington Post, when some one asked if he were a native of that State.

"No, he is a Virginian by birth," said Ex-Congressman Harris. "We lived on adjoining farms, in Rockbridge County, about four miles from Lexington, and played together in boyhood. His father, James Lindsay, was the son of James Lindsay, Sr., who was a Scotchman by birth, but came to this country in early life. The grandfather was a leading man in the neighborhood, and entertained the most positive convictions both in religion and politics. He advocated the doctrines of the old Whig party with the greatest tenacity, and required all under his care the fullest observations of the doctrines of the Presbyterian Church. All his family were Whigs except his son James, the father of the Senator-elect, who was a Democrat. He was a man of high standing, and very popular. He married Miss Davidson, of Keer's Creek, Rockbridge County. She too, was of Scotch-Irish descent and a staunch Presbyterian.

The new Senator was brought up on a farm, but received a good education, and, while very young commenced to study law with Governor Letcher. After completing his studies he went to Kentucky, and from there joined the Confederate army.

"From that time until we met as World's Fair Commissioners at Chicago I had not seen him. He at once became the leader of the commission, and on all questions of law his opinion was accepted without question. He seldom uses adjectives and substitutes law and reason for rhetoric. He will reflect great credit on the State that gave him birth, and do honor to his adopted State, the daughter of Old Virginia."

Night Watchman Driscoll Dead.

Mr. William Driscoll died at his home on the Lexington pike this morning at 2:45 o'clock, after being confined to his bed several months, suffering from general debility. He was born in the city of Cork, Ireland, and came to this city about thirty years ago. He was forty-four years of age and leaves a wife and seven children—six boys and one daughter. He was a member of the Ancient Order of Hibernians, St. Patrick's Society and the Neptune Fire Company. Mr. Driscoll was an industrious, kind-hearted man, and had a host of warm friends. He made the most faithful night watchman Maysville ever had. Funeral will take place Thursday. The hour will be given to-morrow.

A HEN can lay two eggs a day when the fruit is 10 cents a dozen. But when the price goes up to 40 cents a dozen, the cussed hen sees no ambition except to stand around on one leg and shiver.

REV. E. L. POWELL, formerly pastor of the Christian Church of this city, had a large audience Sunday at Louisville to hear his anti-calvinistic sermon. His text was: "Our Father," Matthew 6: 9.

MR. HARRY C. McDUGGLE has gone to Lexington, perhaps to locate permanently. Maysville loses one of her very best young men, and Lexington thus is profited by our loss. When will Maysville offer sufficient advantages to keep her young men at home?

MR. JOHN P. WALLACE has returned home after spending ten days in Johnson County superintending the getting out of the large lump of coal which arrived here Sunday en route to the World's Fair. The Maysville coal barons say they have a bonanza in their Johnson County mines.

THE C. and O. train which should have arrived at 8 o'clock in Cincinnati was late Monday morning. It had a narrow escape from being ditched a few miles below Maysville. The high water caused a trestle to fall and the train was obliged to switch to the upper tracks. The trestle fell just after a freight train had crossed. Considerable excitement prevailed, for the passenger train only had a few minutes' notice of the accident.

MONDAY'S Commercial Gazette contained the following editorial: "In ignorance and carelessness dentists have begun to challenge drug clerks. The action of a tooth-extractor in Flemingsburg, Ky., who caused the death of a woman by injecting blood-poisoning matter into her gums, is a case in point. The evils in this line come from the pretense of dentists to be able to pull teeth without causing pain, and the disposition of patients to take all sorts of chances in order to escape suffering agony. People should understand that a perfect pain deadener is seldom administered in perfect safety."

AT Lexington Judge Parker has granted Dick Nugent a new trial. It will be remembered that Nugent was fined $1,000 a few days ago and given a jail sentence of six months on a charge of assault and battery on William Sistrunk, the charge having been amended from aiding and abetting in shooting and wounding. The verdict was set aside on account of an error in the Judge's instructions to the jury, the error being in not limiting the punishment. The limit on the charge of aiding and abetting is $500 fine and not less than six nor more than twelve months in jail. There is no limit on a charge of assault and battery, but as the charge was amended and the lesser charge is included in the greater, the Judge takes the ground that the punishment on the lesser charge should be limited to the same punishment prescribed for the more serious charge.

MR. CHARLES A. BOOS, went East Saturday to accept a situation as machinist in a harness factory.

EX-GOVERNOR ROBERT L. TAYLOR, of Tennessee, is something of a philosopher. When asked about his defeat for the United States Senatorship by General Bate, he said: "I will not cry over spilt milk nor quarrel with the cow that kicked over the pail. But I shall always believe that the pail ought not to have been kicked over."

MRS. AMANDA TRIGG who died Saturday morning at 2 o'clock at her home near Murphysville, this county, was buried at Shannon at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon. She was a most estimable lady and after a long and useful life passed peacefully away at the age of sixty-three years and nine months. She leaves three sons and one daughter, with a host of friends to mourn her death.

THOMAS A. KEITH,
Maysville, Ky.

SOMEONE speaking of February writes that it's an unfortunate month from the start. The Romans did not intend at first to have any such a month, but finding the year all askew they added some days to the last of it and designated them as the day "to purify" (februario in old Latin). Finding they had set the time too early they put the new month after January and measured it by the moon. When they began to purify for the coming summer they ate beans instead of meat, and therefore named the season Lent ("lentes-beans"). By miscounting the days, however, their year soon got two months behind and Julius Caesar had to overhaul it again. And that's a brief biography of February.—Exchange.

IT now seems that Mrs. John Foxworthy's death was probably not caused by odontunder after all. Doctor R. M. Skinner, of Flemingsburg, was in Maysville to-day, and he says that Mrs. Foxworthy's tooth was extracted about two weeks before she died. Some physician at Mt. Carmel attempted to pull the tooth and broke it off.

He used some unknown preparation on her gums. She went to Flemingsburg and a dentist there finished extracting the tooth. He did not use Odontunder at all. He used chloroform. Mrs. Foxworth was quite sick for some weeks before she had her tooth pulled and as she did not die until two weeks later it is most probable that her death was caused from other natural causes.

THE Circleville, O., Daily Herald says: "Mr. E. L. Kinneman leaves Monday for Maysville, Ky., where he assumes exclusive control of the opera house in that city. Mr. Edmiston, as heretofore stated, taking charge of the other houses in the circuit, in which both have been interested. Mr. Kinneman is an experienced manager and understands the business thoroughly. The house at Maysville has been one of the best on the circuit, and with Mr. Kinneman giving it his direct personal supervision, there is every reason to believe that its business will be largely augmented. Mr. Kinneman's many friends in this city, knowing him as they do, will have no question but that he will make the business a success." Mr. Kinneman has sold out all his interest in other opera houses and will remove his family to Maysville with him.
